Cables Come Worse Than Due, Causing Weak Opening, But Recovery Follows.

Wednesday Afternoon, Oct. 1.

Probably reflecting less optimism reparding the labor situation over there he Liverpool cotton market this mornng displayed marked weakness. The Additional markets page 14.

the Liverpool cotton market this morning displayed marked weakness. The official cables said that the strike was not any worse and the outlook was satisfactory, but from other sources came advices that did not appear quite so encouraging. There was also reported to have been liquidation from the continent to help depress prices. At the finish the tone was called steady and the list was down 22 to 14 points. Spots were marked off 52 points, midding to 19.32d, with sales 4.000 bales, including 3,500, American. Receipts were only 2.000 bales, non-damerican.

The immediate effect of the poor showing abroad was a weak opening in domestic markets. There was nothing in the overnight weather news to influence values, and the coming of the Journal of Commerce condition report at 56.8, showing deterioration of 8.1 points for the month, with an indicated crop of nearly 11,000,000 bales, tended to stimulate confidence in bullish views. It was from the standpoint of deterioration rather than the percentage. It failed to change fairly well-defined ideas as to the official guess, which range from around 53 to 55 per cent. In fact the market all during the day seemed to act on the assumption that such would be the figure, with opinions divergent as to whether the discounting process had been ample or not.

with opinions divergent as to whether the discounting process had been amble or not.

December in New York opened at 11.80c, a drop overnight of 41 points of 11 took but a little while for most of this to be recovered. The weekly weather summary the final one for the season, was regarded a dogfall and thus falled to have any appreciable effect. Trading all day was small and unimportant in character, while the news was coloriess. The domestic strike situation was considered to be slightly better, if any changed, but traders were really not paying much attention to this or to anything else for the moment. Strength in the stock market stimulated some anticipations of this extending to cotton, but not to the extent that there is much expectation of higher levels, unless the reports tomorrow fall way below expectations.

December sold up to 22.18c in the early afternoon, but reacted slightly and got into a rut.

News from the spot department was also rather scarce, but there is said to be strong determination to resist efforis to break the present high basis. For the time being inquiries are smaller, but nobody can tell yet how much October short interest there is or how scon it will undertake to protect itself. The stocks at interior towns are beginning to pile un and the shipping situation does not indicate that exports are going to be much until the situation clears. These merely add to the troubles that are to be faced by those who believe present or higher prices will be certain.

Condition and progress are very good in the Western half of Texas, but deterioration occurred in the eastern half on account of previous rains and insect pests. Picking progressed slowly in Texas, but made satisfactory progress in most other sections of the bet and is nearing completion in many Southern localities. By states:

Texas—Condition and progress of cotton mostly good in western half of state, but in eastern further deterioration resulted from previous wet weather and damage by weevil and other insects and condition of crop very poor. Picking progressing slowly account wet soil and labor shortage; bulk of crop averages three weeks late.

Oklahoma—Condition cotton is satisfactory to very good, except rather poor in most of the eastern portion; picking progressing slowly because of labor shortage.

Georgia—Cotton picking progressing rapidly; all picked in many central and southern counties.

Alabama—Cotton opening and picking progressing rapidly about three-fourths of crop is gathered in south portion of state.

Mississippi—Cotton made irregular progress, from poor to satisfactory lexaling throughout the state; some picking completed in southern portion.

Arkansas—Thre is little shedding and bolls developing satisfactorily except in a few localities, where they are opening prematurely; general condition satisfactory progress; some improvement where rain occurred; picking and ginning.

South Carolina—Drought serious with general deterioration all crop. Top crop prospects poor to average, with premature opening increasing and general crop opening faster than it can be picked.
